TWELVE PAGES—FIVE CENTS

63,000 Miners Vote Not To Return To Pits

Ignore Pleas Of Lewis, Union Heads

Pittsburgh, Jan. 23—(AP)—More than 63,000 bitter United Mine Workers continued to strike today—either because they wouldn't work or because pickets wouldn't let them work. For the fourth week in a row, a large segment of the nation's 400,000 soft coal diggers upheld the mine tradition of "no contract, no work."

They ignored the pleas of John L. Lewis and field lieutenants to return to their jobs. Of the 90,000 miners idle last week, only 26,500 worked today.

Many Back To Work
Many locals of the United Mine Workers voted over the weekend to resume production for a fuel-hungry nation but mobilized pickets had other ideas.

One UMW leader in Ohio urged members of his local to go back to work and drew a punch in the nose for his trouble. The punch was leveled by Y. and O. coal company workers at Joseph Pincer, president of the UMW local at Barton Ohio.

The hard core of resistance remained in the two biggest coal states—Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Less than half of western Pennsylvania's 50,000 miners are at work. Some 25,000 showed up for work early today but by afternoon roving pickets had dwindled their ranks to 16,500.

Western Pennsylvania operations closed down by pickets included 5 mines which employ about 2,500 men and Laughlin's West 4 and men and the Nemacolin mine of the Buckeye coal company with 1,200 men.

12,000 idle in W. Va.
In West Virginia, 12,000 are idle out of 110,000.

About 9,000 miners refused to work in Ohio or were kept out by pickets. All 20 major shafts are closed.

Adolph Pacifico, head of UMW district 6 in Ohio, said the UMW had never authorized pickets in eastern Ohio. He added:

"The newspapers carried a statement last month that the coal operators would force a strike if no contract was signed by the first of the year. It looks to me like the operators might be back of the pickets."

Meanwhile the coal tieup struck a telling blow at related industries. Youngstown Sheet and Tube company began a cut back in iron production by banking its Grace furnace at the Brier Hill works in Youngstown.

Crucible Steel Company announced 500 men will be laid off tomorrow in a second curtailment at its Midland, Pa., works.

Economist States Federal Deficit Not Inflationary

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—A University of Illinois economist said today the federal government's five billion dollar plus deficit is not inflationary.

V. Lewis Bassie, director of the University's bureau of economic and business research, made this contention in the publication, Illinois business review:

"The economy is now in a position to meet all demands by expansion of output rather than to curtail them by stepping up prices."

He said the business outlook is bright for the next year or so, but added:

"In the future we can expect to face problems of both inflation and deflation; the only safe course is to prepare to deal with either as it appears."

After Failing In Reconciliation Bid, Man Shoots Wife

Newark, N. J., Jan. 23—(AP)—A 34-year-old man in a blood-spattered overcoat stood over the body of his 56-year-old wife today and said he had shot her because she wouldn't come home.

Patrolman Charles Matthews said that was the way he had found John Oravsky, 57, on a sidewalk. Mrs. Oravsky lay on the street near a loaf of bread she had bought for her breakfast.

Matthews said Oravsky told of trying to talk his wife into a reconciliation. She had left home two months ago, he said.

This morning he brought his gun. Matthews quoted Oravsky as saying, and shot her as she came back from the baker's.

Russ Half-Lift Junior Berlin Truck Blockade

Berlin, Jan. 23—(AP)—The Russians suddenly and without explanation half-lifted their junior blockade on western truck traffic to and from Berlin late today.

For 24 hours Soviet guards checked each cargo, truck paper and driver so meticulously that only one truck in 15 minutes was allowed to pass Helmsdorf where the Autobahn enters the British zone.

Then at mid-afternoon they started to move through the piled-up line of 100 trucks on each side of the border at a rate of 13 to 15 an hour. Normally, they can handle about 30 an hour.

American, British and French commanders of Berlin met in an emergency session and discussed the latest Soviet hounding tactics, including the delaying of three U. S. military passenger trains for upwards of six hours at the checkpoint this morning.

An allied official said the three commanders had decided to take a "wait and see" attitude.

The trains were held up while Russian and American officials argued and communicated with their superiors over the credentials of two Brazilian diplomats and a German employee of the U. S. high commission on the train. Finally, the Russians let the trains with their passengers proceed to Frankfurt.

An American spokesman said it was the general belief that Soviet tactics were intended to show resentment over the West Berlin police seizure in the American sector of the railway administration building.

The nearly vacant building was occupied last week so its nearly 600 rooms could be used for badly needed office space. But the Russians claimed the seizure interfered with their small signal switchboard housed in the basement. After four days of occupation, Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U. S. Berlin commandant, ordered the police to vacate, saying the building was not worth a second Berlin blockade.

The East Berlin press gloated that the United States had suffered a blow in prestige.

Lewis Declines To Defend 3-Day Week
Before Committee

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—John L. Lewis declined today to defend his three-day work week before a senate committee. Members of congress meanwhile stepped up demands for relief from the cutback in coal production.

The senate labor committee had invited Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, to testify on a resolution which would urge President Truman to use the Taft-Hartley act to force Lewis to drop the curtailed work week.

Lewis declined courteously in the letter to the committee. He said the resolution "raises many legal questions and equates involved in the litigation" started in Federal Courts here by Robert N. Denham, general counsel to the National Labor Relations Board.

Lewis said it would be "inappropriate" for anyone from the UMW to discuss the issues while the matter is in the courts.

A hearing on Denham's suit, which seeks an injunction pending a decision by the NLRB as to whether the three-day week is an unfair labor practice, was postponed during the day. It had been set for Thursday. At the joint request of Denham and the UMW attorneys, it was set back to Feb. 1.

In another Capitol Hill development, Senator Robertson (D-Va.) introduced a bill which would make unions subject to prosecution under the anti-trust laws in certain circumstances. Robertson made it clear his bill was aimed at the three-day week.

Very interesting, said Senator Aiken (R-Vt.), studying the chart. "This shows that during one two-week span, the price of broilers went down 30 per cent for the farmer, while the wholesale price went down 17 per cent, yet the retail price went down only 4 per cent."

Twenty-seven other sixth grade pupils and the teacher, Jesse Rippon, escaped injury.

Two of the injured boys were brought to Mercy hospital here. David Unruh suffered head injuries and face lacerations. Donald Mongold suffered a back injury.

The cause of the explosion was unknown. It burned oil.

Aid Group Seeks To Get Funds From Children Of Old

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—The Illinois public aid commission today sought to recover $65,000 from non-supporting children of 39 old age pensioners who have been on the state rolls for the past 13 years.

The commission turned 34 cases involving the pensioners over to Attorney General I. A. Elliott today. It previously had turned over 20 other cases seeking some $25,000 from the children of 23 pensioners.

The commission claims the aged men and women were forced on the state pension rolls because they were refused help by their children.

Truman Asks Billion Tax Hike, Cut In Excise Levies

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—Speaker Rayburn of Texas, aided by Southern filibuster tactics, blocked consideration of anti-job discrimination legislation in a stormy house session today.

Rayburn, the administration's own leader in the House, twice barred the calling up of the controversial FEPC bill by giving priority to measures aimed at statehood for Alaska and Hawaii.

Then, over hot protests by civil rights advocates, majority leader McCormack (D-Mass.) called for adjournment even before the House set out to debate on the Alaska-Hawaii bills.

The adjournment motion carried by a vote of 167 to 109. Members were not recorded by name, although Rep. Marcantonio (A-N.Y.) tried to put them on record by a roll-call vote.

The effect of the day's hectic jockeying was to delay—perhaps indefinitely—the calling up of FEPC.

Rayburn could have cleared the way for debate on the civil rights measure by recognizing a committee chairman to call it up.

Instead, he gave the go-ahead first would set up a fair employment to the Alaska bill. Then, when that practices commission to investigate had been approved for debate and a second opportunity arose for FEPC, Rayburn sidetracked it for the Hawaiian measure.

Finally, after five hours of furious argument and finger-pointing by both sides, McCormack forced adjournment at the customary adjournment hour. Under House rules, that means FEPC's next chance of being called up, at the earliest, is Monday, Feb. 13. There is no certainty it will get clearance then.

Five time-consuming rollcalls, engineered by FEPC foes, helped stall off even preliminary action on the civil rights bill.

A special resolution setting the stage for debate on the Hawaii statehood bill was approved by voice vote. A similar resolution on the Alaska bill went through by a 373-25 margin on a roll call vote.

Actual debate on the measures will come later, ahead of FEPC.

McCormack announced that the statehood bills will not come up this week.

The FEPC bill, keystone of President Truman's civil rights program, is the first order of business.

Asks Hiss Friends, Frankfurter And Acheson, Resign

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) said today President Truman ought to ask Secretary of State Acheson and Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter to resign because of their past connections with Alger Hiss.

Hiss was convicted in New York last week on charges that he lied in denying any part in the alleged passing of secret State department papers to a pre-war communist spy ring.

Capehart told the Senate others in the government must have known of Hiss' purported activities, and he called on President Truman to "reveal those missing links of conspiracy."

Capehart said there was "undisputed evidence" that Acheson, then an assistant secretary of state, was told of Hiss' activities in 1939.

"I call upon President Truman to ask Secretary of State Acheson to resign," Capehart said.

He went on to say that Justice Frankfurter had sponsored Hiss in government positions and "either knew that evidence existed in the State department against Hiss, or he could have known."

"I feel that Mr. Truman should ask Justice Frankfurter to resign his position in all decency to the High Court of which he is a member," Capehart said.

Testifies In U.S. Fraud Suit Against Insurance Company

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—Tim Gannon of Belle Plaine, Minn., testified in Federal Court today he couldn't collect accident benefits under his Arcadia National Insurance company policy because he didn't stay in bed long enough.

Gannon, 75, was one of several of former policy holders in the LaGrange, Ill., company to take the stand in the government's mail fraud and conspiracy trial of 10 officials.

Gannon told Judge John P. Barnes that he broke a leg, but was confined to bed for 27 days instead of the 30 days his policy.

The company didn't pay off, he said, but refunded eight dollars of the $11 he had paid in premiums.

Emmitt Langan, 51, of Council Grove, Kans., said he was unable to collect benefits after suffering rib fractures because he was hit by a truck instead of a private automobile.

Herman E. York, Huron, S.D., who lost two fingers while cutting ice in 1947, said his settlement was $150 because benefits were cut by half in accidents which occurred after the policy holder was 60 years old.

Wants More From Legacies And Corps.

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—President Truman today asked Congress for a host of tax changes — $1,000,000,000 a year more from corporations and legacies, a deep slash in seven excise or nuisance taxes, and plugged-up "loopholes" in a series of tax laws.

One aim: To produce a net increase of $1,000,000,000 in annual revenues toward a budget balance sometime in future years.

Congress is eager to cut excise taxes which are levied on such things as furs, passenger travel, cosmetics and long distance telephone bills. There is strong talk of rushing through such a bill. But Mr. Truman slipped this warning into his tax message: He'll veto any such bill which isn't at the same time offset by the same amount of new revenue.

Method Of Attack
Here is the way he wants to attack this problem:

Reduce excises "only to the extent that the resulting loss in revenue is replaced by revenue obtained from closing loopholes in the present tax laws."

By loopholes, he said he meant the legal ways through which "some groups escape their fair share of taxation." He mentioned laws which he said give big advantages to oil and mine owners, charitable and educational organizations engaged in business, and life insurance companies.

The message failed to please a large segment of Congress which is talking of cutting excises and taxes too, rather than raise any revenues. Mr. Truman contends his budget is at a minimum considering world intensity and he advised against "foolish slashes." He said his program was designed to strengthen the tax system.

No Economy Indicators
Senator Byrd (D-Va.) said there was nothing in President Truman's message "which indicated the President is for any real economy."

"He is defending deficit spending, which is one of the most dangerous things the country ever undertook," Byrd said. "What we ought to do is to balance the budget this year by cutting expenses."

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, said the President was trying to raise taxes "to finance spendthrift socialism."

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee said the message would get "full consideration." Doughton's attitude is that Congress "certainly should pick up elsewhere the revenue lost by a reduction of excises."

Seven Levies On List
Mr. Truman picked out seven of the long list of excise taxes for cuts "most urgently needed." He did not specify amounts. He mentioned passenger tickets, now taxed at 15 per cent; freight, now 3 per cent; long distance telephone and telegraph charges, now 25 per cent; and all retail or sales excises.

These sales taxes now run 20 per cent of the price the consumer pays on jewelry, furs, toilet preparations including baby oil, and luggage including handbags and wallets.

Mr. Truman did not mention liquor and tobacco taxes for cuts. Together they produce $3,500,000,000 taxes a year.

Here is how Mr. Truman proposes to get an extra billion dollars a year:

1. A "moderate" increase in the tax rate on corporation income in excess of $50,000. He said this would hit only ten per cent of corporations. Congressional tax experts figure this would mean lifting the present 38 per cent to about 41 or 42 per cent.

2. Reduce exemptions and revise the tax rates on transfers of estates and big gifts. He said this should produce "a substantial part" of the additional $1,000,000,000 taxes.

House Clears Way To Give Statehood To Alaska, Hawaii

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—The House today cleared the way for consideration of statehood for both Alaska and Hawaii but neither will be brought up this week.

Majority leader McCormack (D-Mass.) told the House that he would program the two bills for later consideration, but said they will not come up this week.

The House approved the special resolution on the Hawaii bill by voice vote after a similar resolution on the Alaska bill was approved by a 373 to 25 roll call vote.

The Alaska bill, he said, will be considered first.

McCormack said the two bills will be programmed for House consideration, but he did not say when. He reiterated several times that it will not be this week.

Rep. Coudert (R-N.Y.) has protested the "travesty" of calling up the two statehood bills for the "political purpose" of blocking fair employment practice legislation.

He asked the House to postpone consideration until later, and charged that their passage would give the two territories four senators—a representation he said was out of proportion to their population and importance.

Coudert is author of a proposal which would charge congress with deciding whether the two territories should have two senators or only one.

Last week the factories built 149,550 cars and trucks. That compared with 147,783 units in the preceding week. Barring work stoppages this week's output will total 150,000 units or more. That would boost the January total to well above 600,000 vehicles.

There isn't any doubt new production marks will be set by the car factories between now and midyear, provided there is no halt due to labor or materials shortages.

The records of the automobile manufacturers' association show the biggest single month's output so far was in April, 1949, when 663,811 cars and trucks were built.

As far as indicated demand is concerned it looks as good right now as it has for many months.

Predicts 800,000 Dwellings Will Be Built This Year

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—A west coast building banker today predicted 800,000 dwellings will be built this year. He gave the nation's bankers this view of 1950 home building prospects:

1. About 2,000,000 new dwellings are needed, theoretically.

2. Prices and costs will be stable at about 10 to 12 per cent below the 1948 peak.

3. A sizeable market remains. It includes many of 8,000,000 war veterans who have not used GI loan means, the $5,000 to $8,000 a year "middle income" group, and more than 2,000,000 negro families.

4. A price tag under $10,000, with "maximum livability," will be of increased necessity.

R. A. Peterson, president of the Allied Building Credits, Inc., Los Angeles, also told the national credit conference of the American Bankers Association:

"It adds up to a healthy looking year of 800,000 or more dwellings for the building industry."

TO RETIRE SOON
St. Louis, Jan. 23—(AP)—Fred T. Pench, 74, general agent here for the National Life Insurance company of Vermont, told of his retirement last year, died of heart disease today. He was a board member of Illinois Wesleyan University of Bloomington. Funeral services will be held here at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

SAFETY OFFICER ARRESTED
Sale, England, Jan. 23—(AP)—The chairman of the District road safety committee was arrested and fined today. The charge: dangerous driving.

He has submitted his resignation, as it has for many months.

Urges U.S. Vote Adherence To U. N. Anti-Genocide Law

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—Church by 43 nations and ratified by seven groups and the Truman administration. President Truman submitted it to Congress and urged the Senate to vote the Senate last June with a request U. S. adherence to a United Nations for early action. As a treaty it does agreement to outlaw the systematic killing or persecution of members of any race.

This country should take the lead in "raising the moral standards of international society" by ratifying the so-called genocide agreement, Deputy Undersecretary of State Dean Rusk told a Senate foreign relations subcommittee.

The agreement, drawn by a U.N. commission and approved unanimously by the general assembly, defines genocide as "a denial of the right of existence of entire human groups, as homicide is the denial of the right to live of individual human beings."

IT'S GOOD TO SEE THE COUNTRY ACTING TO PROTECT RESOURCES

Here and there heartening signs are seen that the country is starting to grapple seriously with the problem of protecting its basic wealth—its resources of land, water, minerals and forests.

Yale University has announced establishment of a new graduate program of research and teaching in conservation of natural resources. The school believes the time has come for the colleges to undertake the training of competent personnel in this field.

Backing for the program comes from the Conservation Foundation, an organization headed by Fairfield Osborn, noted conservationist, who calls it a "step of extraordinary importance." Osborn's group is itself currently engaged in a painstaking survey of the nation's ground water resources.

At the same time, we learn that President Truman's special Water Resources Policy Commission already has met and agreed to survey water problems "from the headwaters of the country's rivers to the sea."

Water is of course only one part of the general problem, but right now it is uppermost in people's minds because of shortages in the East. And it's as good a place as any to begin. Failure to maintain ample water supplies will throttle the country's growth as emphatically as any other resource failure.

But the kind of thing the commission is doing should be done for all resources. Congress must often regret having abolished the old National Resources Board. It was well equipped to keep the nation wisely informed on its inventory of natural wealth. The job it could have done must now be performed by other agencies—piece-meal.

We should chart carefully the known resources, measure them against the likely consumption of an expanding population, set up rules for their wise use. Where shortages are presently or potentially serious, we also should focus on further explorations to turn up new supplies. And as a vital backstop we should push the development of adequate substitutes to have ready when any key resource plays out.

These steps are so elemental they sound obvious. But up until now we haven't done very much about them.

Savory Lamb Shanks

Lamb shanks, sauerkraut, crisp oven browned potatoes and the main fare of mealtime is at a peak of goodness.

Lamb Shanks Provide Thrifty Meal Interest

Broadening culinary horizons may mean a saving on the food bill as well as tempting new dishes to provide variety for the family. The first adventure into the field of thrifty novel dishes might well begin with lamb shanks. This is a less known cut of meat, therefore, lower in price.

To bring out all the rich full flavor of lamb shanks, they are cooked by moist heat as in braising. Place the shanks in a frying-pan with a small amount of hot lard or drippings and brown them on all sides. Add salt and pepper, a small amount of water, about 1 to 2 cups, then tightly cover the frying-pan and let the meat cook slowly until tender. A low temperature is every bit as important for braising meat as in the other methods of meat cooking. Keep the liquid at a simmering stage—never boiling—for 2 to 2 1/2 hours.

With Sauerkraut
Lamb shanks and sauerkraut are a classic combination. The browned shanks, topped with the sauerkraut and a dash of caraway seed for added taste in a baking dish. The meat is covered and the meat and sauerkraut allowed to cook slowly in a 300° F. oven for about 2 hours.

For a further addition to your list, braise the shanks in a tangy barbecue sauce made with a good mingling of spices, tomatoes and a few cloves of garlic. The shanks are browned as in the usual braising process, the barbecue sauce ingredients added, the pan covered and the meat allowed to cook until tender.

A variation in sauce, includes raisins, chopped prunes, brown sugar and onion rings.

Stuffed Shanks
Stuffed lamb shanks present an entirely different finished dish, yet they are prepared in much the same manner with the exception that the meat is completely covered with water, seasonings, cover the pan and let the meat simmer until tender. Take the shanks out of the broth and when cool enough to handle, remove the bones. Fill the resulting pocket with a favorite vegetable or fruit stuffing, then place the stuffed shanks in a baking dish and thoroughly heat them in a moderate (350° F.) oven.

Births

In Capping Ceremony At Our Saviour's Hospital

The eleven first year students who participated in the capping ceremony of Our Saviour's School of Nursing last Friday night were, left to right: Misses Rita Neilsen, Davent, Iowa; Patricia LaFollette and Barbara Newingham, Beardstown; Norma Vinyard, Roodhouse; Helen Franklin, Alsey; Harry Wright, Jacksonville; Misses Evelyn Eads, Kane; Dorothy Richey, Medora; Marianne Lawless, Jacksonville; Theresa Rains, Springfield; and Mary Anne Stucke, Beardstown.

Inset: Sister Clare Anne, B.S., R.N., director of nurses, presents the cap to class vice-president Patricia LaFollette while president Marianne Lawless looks on. The class secretary-treasurer is Miss Dorothy Richey.

The simple and impressive capping ceremony took place in the chapel of Our Saviour's hospital in the presence of near relatives of the students. The Rev. John A. McDonald of Springfield was speaker.

Citing the principle of expediency the nurses' home.

as the great peril of the day, Father McDonald told the students that their education in traditional Christian morality was of more importance to themselves and America than their training in the nursing skills.

In conclusion Father McDonald told the young students that they themselves were the greatest contribution which their parents and the Sisters of the Holy Cross, who conduct the school, could give to God and to America.

The program took place as follows: Processional, March (Smart), Mrs. Alta Esch; presentation of caps, Sister Clare Anne; Nightingale to class vice-president Patricia LaFollette while president Marianne Lawless looks on. The class secretary-treasurer is Miss Dorothy Richey.

Mrs. Esch is organist of Our Saviour's church.

Following the program an informal reception for the students and their guests took place in the lounge of the nurses' home.

An Afternoon With A Grape

By Hal Boyle
Urbana, N. Y.—Turning a cluster of grapes into a bottle of champagne is about as complicated as motherhood.

Found this out during an afternoon in a winery, here in the heart of the Finger Lakes region known as "The Champagne District of America."

The invitation came from Stewart Underhill, head of the Urbana Winery Co., whose family has been making grapes in New York off and on for 150 years.

I accepted it gladly. For 20 years people have been showing me through steel plants, auto plants, airplane plants or buttonhole factories. Nobody ever gave me a steel beam for a souvenir, a motor car, a B-36 bomber—or even a buttonhole.

Expected Freedom of Press
But a trip through a winery—well, that was something else. The least I could expect was the freedom of its press.

And my heart really bounded when I entered the first chamber in the winery—which has more than a mile of tunnels. It was filled with huge oak and sypress casks holding from 500 to 9,000 gallons of wine. I figured roughly there must be at least 150 of these casks. And I figured also that if I sampled a breaker, or two from each cask—just to mull over its bouquet—I would be there until summer.

"Don't know if I'll be able to make it," I murmured throatily.
"Oh, it won't take too long," answered my guide, Charles Fournier, the chief winemaker, who learned his art at the French home of Champagne in Rheims.

Long Waiting List
Well, to get down to the bitter truth, in a trip through a winery they spend most of the time telling you how wine is made. They don't feel it is necessary for you to test a sample from each cask. It seems they have people paid to do this. And there is a long waiting list for the jobs.

So, getting dryer at every step, I learned how grape squeezings end up in a champagne bottle. The grape juice, sugar and yeast live happily together in the oak casks for months. The wine is then drawn off and blended with other wines—and this is where the winemaker's skill enters. The blended wine then is put in bottles, more yeast and sugar are added, and the bottles are corked and laid on their sides. There they meditate for years.

Can't Be Hurried
"It is the flavor released by the fermenting years that makes the true Champagne flavor, and it can't be hurried," said Fournier. "It is produced only by being aged in years."

Local observers believed the negotiations required before signing of the pact and its announcement were drawing rapidly to a close.

NEAR COMPLETION
Moscow, Jan. 23.—(P)—A new treaty between Soviet Russia and the Chinese Communists appeared to be near completion today.

Venice—(AP)—Venetian film fans are having a field day with four movies being made all at once along the famous canals and in the palaces and squares of this ancient city. Sometimes the crowds become unruly—too eager to see the stars—and police have to intervene. One film company is making as many canal scenes as possible at night to avoid curious crowds.

Yankee Mother Invents Leakproof Diaper Cover

Inventor of a leakproof nylon diaper cover, Mrs. James Donovan gets approval from the final authority. The cover is adjustable, washes clean under the water tap.

BY GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

Saugatuck, Conn. — (NEA) — A shower curtain, a pair of scissors, and necessity recently turned a young Connecticut housewife into an inventor. Her invention is a waterproof nylon diaper cover.

Mrs. James Donovan is the mother of two small children. While they were babies, she found that there was no such thing as a leakproof

WHITE HALL

White Hall—Mr. and Mrs. Clay Barton visited with Mrs. Barton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Joslin. Together with Mrs. Beulah Campbell, they attended the funeral of Charles Borrowman of Rockport, who passed away in Arizona. The deceased is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Joslin and Mrs. Campbell.

Lt. and Mrs. J. V. O'Brien and two children of Lawton, Okla., have returned to their home after visiting her mother, Mrs. Lulu Evans, here for the past several weeks. Miss Barbara Evans accompanied them to Lawton, and will go from there to Albuquerque, New Mexico for a visit with Miss Ethel Bradshaw, a former resident of White Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. William Friend, Jr. and daughter Jennifer, left early this month for their home in Colorado, Calif. Miss Doris Dean of this city accompanied them on the trip. Mr. Friend is stationed with the Navy and they had visited both of their parents since before the Christmas holidays.

Jack Hudson son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Hudson, of this city is on the honor roll for the fall term at Illinois college, Jacksonville. Hudson, a senior, has made academic honors since he entered the college. He is a member of the Board of Independent, and of the staff of the Rambler, the college paper.

Since Delicious apples are plentiful you may want to use some of them in cooking and baking. If so, remember that their flavor benefits when lemon juice is added.

This new waterproof nylon diaper cover takes a diaper folded to give eight thicknesses of protection. It is streamlined, adjustable, ventilated.

"My new diaper cover, like a good boat, absolutely can't leak," Mrs. Donovan says. "It snaps on easily, never binds, is adjustable through snaps, and permits a healthy ventilation. Furthermore, only one diaper is necessary to fit the cover. This diaper, folded my way, gives eight thicknesses of protection, rather than the usual three or four."

The secret of the cover's effectiveness in keeping baby clothing dry lies in protective walls, built in at either side, at the leg openings. The protection band at the top has a four-inch iceway at each side which can be pinned to the shirt for greater security. And the cover comes in four sizes for all babies.

The diaper cover is a cinch to come clean under the water tap without scrubbing. Or it can be quickly dunked in warm water and suds.

"I had never thought of myself as an inventor," Mrs. Donovan says. "My invention happened by gradual steps, with necessity nudging me. But I did have my youngest child then in cooking and baking. If so, to test it for me. We laboratory-tested it, of course, but Sharon was the final authority."

End of a Chapter

By Edwin Rutt

ALICE PINE stopped her car 50 yards from the house. She wanted to gather first impressions of this place that might become her home for an indefinite period.

Of course, this was the house. Mrs. Halleck's letter had stated that it stood alone at the very end of Grosvenor Point. Well, this dwelling did. Beyond it Alice could see Long Island Sound, its blue surface laced with whitecaps by a strong May breeze.

That same breeze had made a partial confusion of Alice's hair. Now she tucked stray tendrils under her small hat and contemplated the home of Muriel Halleck, alias "Jo Palgrave."

The ground around it was generally flat, but rescued from monotony by a series of interesting undulations. A sloping lawn on the Sound side ran down to a strip of beach. There were a number of shade trees and one magnificent weeping willow, green and gold in the afternoon sun. A neatly clipped hedge surrounded the house.

The place looked nice. But Alice, personally, would never have put up a squarish modernistic building here. The setting called for something older, more weathered, more on a cottage style perhaps.

But doubtless the Hallecks had substituted practicality for the picturesque. And very sensible, if you lived in one place the year around. This house, with its glass blocks and generous picture windows, looked as if it would be light, airy. And the interior was probably a decorator's dream.

Alice started her motor and turned into a wide gravel drive. As she braked, the front door opened.

The woman who emerged and hurried toward her was small, trim, smart-looking, though dressed in casual beige cardigan and slacks. Her hair was pale blonde, upswept from a wide forehead. She had a reticent nose, lightly freckled at its bridge and a good firm chin.

And so this was Muriel Halleck, who wrote under the pen name of "Jo Palgrave." Alice had often seen her photographs in magazines.

"Miss Pine? It's so nice of you to come. I hope the drive wasn't tiresome."

"Not at all," Alice's slight hesitation was involuntary. She had been a little startled by Muriel Halleck's eyes.

They were enormous, and peculiar, so light a gray as to seem silvery. But tawny glints lurked in great black pupils like pin dots of fire. Alert, aware eyes, and the most arresting that Alice had ever seen.

She added: "I've been looking forward to coming. Your letter made it all sound so interesting."

Muriel Halleck smiled. "I hope you'll find it just that, if we can agree."

She's terribly alive, Alice thought. Bright and quick-moving, like her stories.

"Come along," Mrs. Halleck was saying. "I'm dying to explain everything."

Alice got out of the car and at

"What I'm getting at," Muriel said, "is that a writer needs a certain sympathy. I don't mean praise. I wouldn't have a yes-woman."

once felt rather awkward. She stood five-seven in her stockings and had a tendency to stride. Whereas the woman at her elbow moved with the easy grace of a cat.

Such of the house's interior as she saw on the way to Mrs. Halleck's study was, indeed, charming. Soft rugs, tasteful furnishings, good pictures.

THE study itself was small and exquisite. It faced the Sound, overlooking the lawn Alice had already seen. The walls were a cool gray-green. The north end was solid with bookshelves. There was a copper-faced fireplace at the south end. And the huge picture window seemed to bring lawn and water right into the room.

"Here," Muriel Halleck pointed to a bleached-pine table upon which stood an open typewriter, "is where the deadly work is done. Do sit down."

Alice sat, in an overstuffed chair. Mrs. Halleck offered cigarettes. "Do you smoke? I hope so, if you're going to be with me. I burn them in chains."

"Please."

Mrs. Halleck took the chair at the table. "Well, Miss Pine, I liked your answer to my advertisement better than any other. That's why I wrote practically begging you to come."

Alice hoped it was not mere politeness. The more she saw of this place, the more it seemed, literally, just what the doctor had ordered.

"First off," she said, "driving up was a pleasure. It can't be a hundred miles from New York."

"A hundred ten, Brent says. Brent's my husband. He's a painter, you know. And an illustrator."

Alice hadn't known it. But she nodded, said: "It's nice of you to have liked my letter. I do hope I can meet your requirements."

"Well, as I said in the ad, I need someone who can take shorthand and do exceptionally neat typing. I'd also like her to have some interest in writing. And things that are being published. In other words—Muriel's smile was frank—"I'm thinking of a person who'll be a little more than simply a—a stenographer."

"I see," Alice murmured.

"WHAT I'm getting at," Muriel said reflectively, "is that a writer needs a certain sympathy. I don't mean praise. I wouldn't have a yes-woman. But I can't bear the idea of someone who just did the work and was left completely cold by it."

"You mean that you don't want an automaton?"

The silvery eyes regarded her appreciatively. "That says it perfectly."

"Well," Alice said, "I can do the shorthand and typing. I'm not a writer, of course. But I love reading and I've always—oh, lived with books. I think I have some appreciation, Mrs. Halleck. I'm sure of it."

"Mind going over your background again?"

"Not at all. There was school and college, as I explained. The war was on when I graduated from college. So I joined the WACS. And my—er, the man I was going to marry—well, he was killed in the Pacific."

She stopped, momentarily lost in bitter remembrance. Gil Farnum, black-browed, black-eyed, and an eternal laugh on his lips. Zeros, five of them, wheeling. It had taken five to . . .

Mrs. Halleck's voice, suddenly soft, brought her out of it. "I understand, my dear."

"Well, after the war I took a job in a New York advertising agency. Rather a hectic job. And this winter it got me. A doctor advised a complete change."

Unconsciously, Alice sat forward. "I want to be very clear, Mrs. Halleck. There's nothing actually wrong with me. I had a sort of breakdown, which I'm about over. And that—that's all. Except that I can't remember whether I told you my age—28."

Complaints Are Charlie's Business

Pittsburgh—(P)—Think you've got troubles? Meet Charles A. Snyder, head of Pittsburgh's Bureau of Sanitation. Snyder, with his two clerks and a stenographer, handled more than 15,000 complaints last year.

Many of the callers are apartment house dwellers who complain of unhealthy or unsanitary conditions their landlords refuse to fix. Most of the troubles have come up before, and handling them is pretty much routine. But once in a while one comes up that stumps Snyder and his whole staff.

Like the other day when a young ex-G.I. phoned to complain that his kitchen was full of dirty dishes. He pleaded with Snyder:

"Can't you come over here and make my wife wash them?"

CALIFORNIA'S TEST CORN

Davis, Calif. —(P)—California as a tall corn state is in the minds of agricultural experts here. The state needs corn if it is ever to grow enough meat to feed itself. The corn it needs is a hybrid that will resist ear rot, says Dr. Francis L. Smith of the College of Agriculture.

Hybrid seeds can be "tailored" by selection to meet the problems of any particular area, he points out. California is looking for one that matures in mid-season. The college is testing more than 70 inbred lines. Smith reports.

LODGE HAS WASHINGTON STATUE

Alexandria, Va. —(P)—A 17-foot bronze statue of George Washington has been erected in the George Washington Masonic Memorial.

It cost $80,000, and it took the sculptor, Bryant Baker of New York, two years. It is the gift of the Order of DeMolay, a Masonic youth organization.

The statue depicts Washington with hat in hand preparing to open a meeting of his old Masonic lodge in Alexandria.

Flotation, reduction-roasting and magnetic separation are processes used to increase the iron recovery from ore.

Chicago, Ill.—Deafened people are hailing a new device that gives them clear hearing without a receiver button in the ear. They now enjoy songs, sermons, friendly companionship and business success with no self-conscious feeling that people are looking at a button hanging on their ear. Tiny Phantomold fits so deep within the ear that it is hardly seen. Sound is relayed to it by an inconspicuous tube from a button concealed in the clothing. The makers of Beltone, Dept. 40, 1450 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement they will gladly send you their free brochure (in plain wrapper) and explain how you can test this amazing device in your own home without risking a penny. $4,431 Spent For Polio Treatment In Morgan County

Feed Costs Less when you Grind Your Own

You pay less for feed when you grind home-grown crops with a John Deere Hammer Mill because you save the cost of custom grinding or buying expensive prepared feeds.

John Deere 10- and 14-inch Hammer Mills are big-capacity, light-running mills, with a highly-efficient grinding unit that reduces crops in a hurry to any degree of fineness... you grind more feed per hour with less power. See us for full information.

the $4,431 spent during 1949 by the Morgan County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Thirteen new cases arose during the year. The last two of these were released from the hospital shortly before Christmas. There were also three old cases which received attention.

The chapter started the year with approximately $2,000. It received $800 from the National Foundation's emergency fund and $1,750 from the March of Dimes.

After the various expenditures were subtracted, the chapter found itself with a $900 debt on its hands, which it hopes can be removed after the funds are received from the 1950 March of Dimes.

The chapter refuses aid to no one who is in need. It is pledged to assist with all or part of the treatment cost, according to the family's need. There is no red tape involved and precious time is not lost in routine investigations.

Besides the actual cost of treatment, the chapter also pays for hospital bills, braces and other items pertinent to the care of polio patients.

Throughout the nation 40,000 persons fell victim to this dread disease last summer. Their care required $31,000,000. There were 2,451 cases throughout the state last summer.

Although Morgan county has one of the most active chapters in the state, it also has one of the lowest per capita ratings for contributions. Compared with Morgan county, whose capital ratings is $10, Cass county has a rating of $28; Greene, $16; Pike $11; and Sangamon, $20.

BACK IN OPERATION
Pittsburgh, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The nation's fourth largest steel company hustled back into operation today after a 20-hour strike on its supply-totalling railroad forced it to shut down.

The brief strike by 400 workers on the Monongahela railroad over a discharged employee idled 12,000 Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation employees and 5,000 workers of smaller firms serviced by the line. The walk-out ended early yesterday.

AMERICAN DENIED CITIZENSHIP—(P)—Federal Judge Burnette S. Matthews denied citizenship to a woman who was born in the United States. The woman, a native of Cleveland, married a Hungarian in 1923 and went to Hungary to live. She remained there through the war, although she testified she always represented herself as an American national.

She asked the court to reassert her U.S. citizenship. This was denied because it was established the woman voted in a Hungarian election in 1946. Judge Matthews rejected her plea that she had to vote on pain of being jailed and losing her ration card—and that she voted anti-Communist.

Eastern, Millikin Continue Drives For I. C. Crowns

Chicago, Jan. 23—(P)—Eastern of Chicago and Millikin continue their drives for Illinois conference basketball crowns this week as traffic eases off for semester examinations.

All of the week's league action is crammed into Saturday.

Eastern, after topping Western 82-53 and State Normal 81-40, will try to solidify its bid for the Illinois Intercollegiate athletic conference title by invading northern DeKalb.

Eastern is unbeaten in league play, having run up three successive wins, and has lost only one game all season.

Northern will be trying for its first victory in four starts. The DeKalb team was nipped 74-72 by State Normal and 56-54 by Southern of Carbondale last week.

The only other IIAAC game sends southern (2-1) to Western of Macon (2-1) to break a second place tie in the chase.

Millikin, kingpin of the little nine scramble with three wins in four starts, goes to Illinois College for a crucial engagement Saturday. Rated a strong title threat, Illinois College burst Illinois Wesleyan 88-67 for its second straight win over a Big Ten rival.

Grinnell is at Knox for a mid-western conference date Saturday.

No league games are scheduled in the Pioneer conference. Unbeaten Shurtleff tops the chase, posting its third straight win with a 77-52 decision over McKendree last week.

The prime non-league encounter of the week sends Millikin to Eastern Thursday for a battle of frontrunners of their respective leagues.

BIKE CHAMPS TO BELGIUM

Brussels—(P)—The world road cycling championships will be held in Belgium, Aug. 19-20, this year, round a 55-mile course near Ypres. A committee delegated by the International Cycling Union has chosen a road which begins at Moorslede, then passes through Ypres, Mont Rouge, Mont Noir, Kemmel, Menin, back to Ypres and on to Beceleere. An amateur race of a little more than 100 miles will be held on Aug. 19, and the professionals will peddle 177.25 miles the following day.

BERLIN SMALLER BUT IT SMOKES MORE

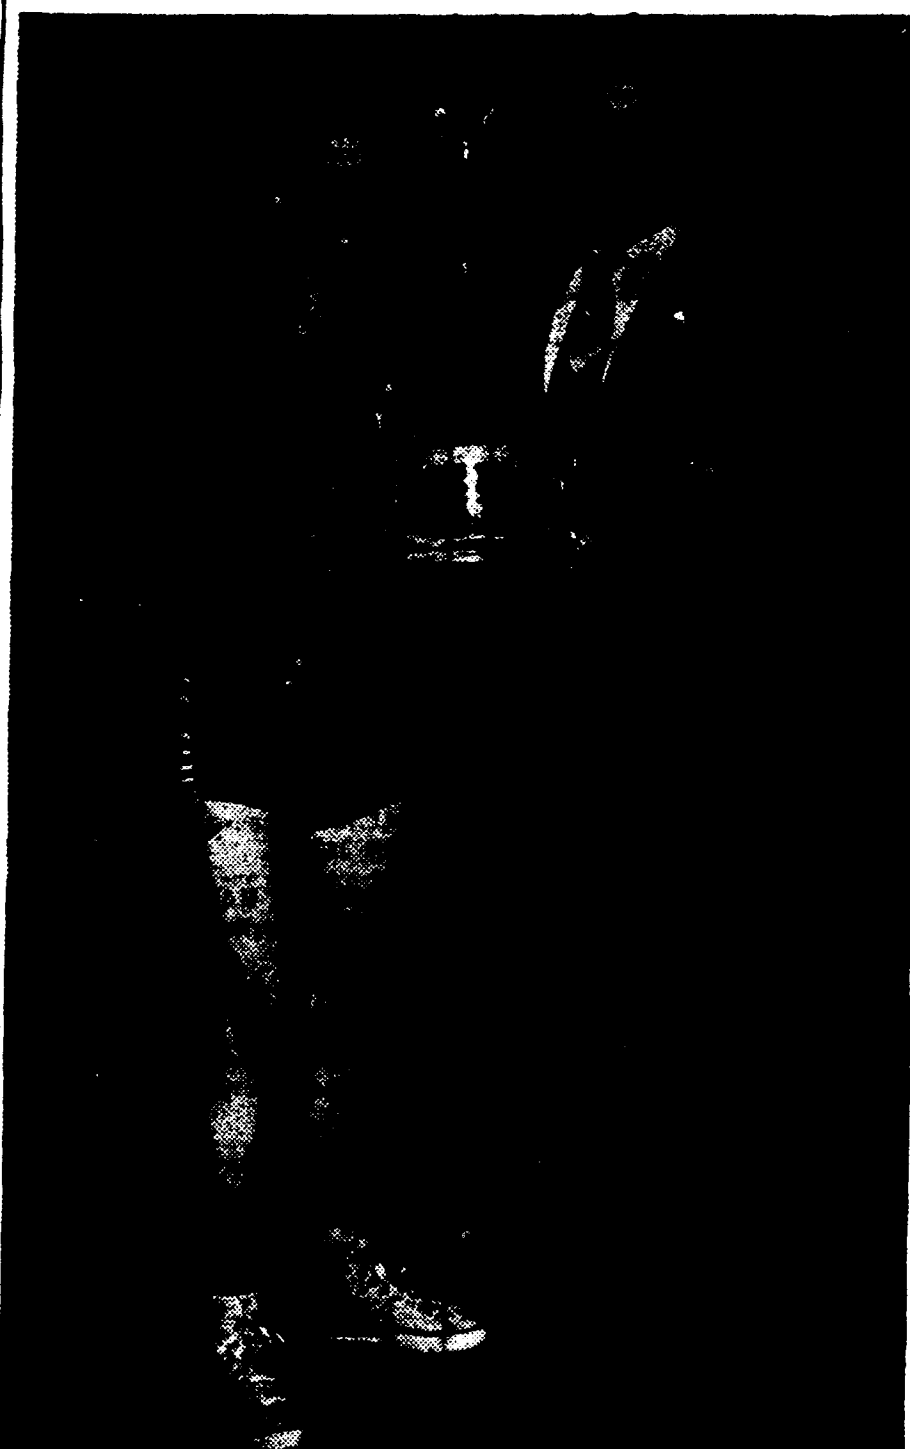

Berlin—(P)—Berlin's population is about one million less than before the war, but its cigarette consumption has increased by two billion a year.

City statistics show that Berliners smoke eight billion cigarettes a year, compared with six billion in pre-war years. This makes an average of 7 to 8 cigarettes a day for each adult. Also more Berlin women have joined the smokers. Only eight per cent used to smoke 20 years ago. Today it's 36 per cent.

ALFALFA SEED BOOMS

Davis, Calif.—(P)—There's a booming little business in California, growing alfalfa seeds for other parts of the U.S.A. Two new kinds of alfalfa are involved—Ranger and Buffalo. Neither grows as good hay here as native alfalfa. But the production of seeds of these varieties for the north-central and north-eastern United States has doubled in the past year.

HAPPY HORNETS

Shown clutching the big Winchester tournament championship trophy is veteran Mt. Sterling Coach Maurice T. Root and his happy Green Hornet captain Alfred Robinson.

Displaying an abundance of speed and size the Brown county athletes claimed the crown at Winchester last Saturday night by coming from behind to whip the Wildcats host quintet 40-38.

They'll continue their quest for championship trophies at Illinois School for the Deaf this evening where they tangle with Eldon Atwood's Chambersburg Red Raiders in the first-round of the annual PMBC tournament at 7:15. Routt of Jacksonville and Perry meet in the 8:45 engagement tonight.

Valley Fives Fared Well At Winchester

By John Campbell

The strong Illinois Valley conference saw two entries place second and third in the 28th Annual Winchester tournament last week. The host club finishing second and the Carrollton five wound up in third position.

Three important games will be played Friday night. Greenfield plays at Jerseyville and the Tigers will try to stop the winning streak of the loop leaders at five consecutive games. Winchester's improved five plays at Carrollton and the Hawks are going to find the Wildcats plenty tough as rivals in their tourney experienced last week. White Hall invades the Roodhouse court. The Maroons have gone without a win on the Railroad floor the last three years.

White Hall boasts the leading scorer in the Ivy loop, Teddy Priny, who has scored 72 points in five games. Lyndell Smith of Carrollton, another yearling standout, is in second place with 68 for five games. Bob Cummings, ace center on the Winchester club, is fourth in the scoring parade with 2 points. He is one of the most improved players in the loop. Bill Reynolds is the Jerseyville ball of fire from his guard post and he is fifth in scoring with 61 points. He scored 122 points for a fourth spot entry last season.

Wisconsin, Ohio State Locked In Big Ten Lead

Chicago, Jan. 23—(P)—With Ohio State absorbing its first league defeat, the super-charged Big Ten basketball title race has returned to a nine team scramble.

Only twice in the last 23 years has a Western Conference outfit lost three games and still won or shared the championship. A three time loser in the current chase easily could corner a part of the crown, and a two-time loser could very well clinch it.

At present, Ohio State and Wisconsin are locked in the lead with 3-1 records apiece. Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana and Iowa all definite contenders although having two defeats. And Michigan and Northwestern, each with three losses, cannot be counted out. Purdue, with a 1-4 mark, appears to be the only one without a chance.

The threat of Ohio State to hold undisputed first place evaporated Saturday when the Buckeyes, after three wins at home, lost their first road game. Illinois plowed them under, 66-50, with Wally Osterkorn popping in 24 points and Don Sunderdopping adding 20.

Ohio State's Dick Schnitter, although limited to 16 points—his poorest output of the season—still retained the individual scoring lead with a 22.2 average in four games. Don Herfeldt of Wisconsin is a fraction behind him with 21.7 and Minnesota's Whitey Skoog is a strong third with 19.2.

The chase eases off this week during mid-term examinations. But there is plenty of business for Ohio State. Iowa invades the Buckeye ballcourt tonight. Ohio State hits the road to meet Minnesota Saturday. Those are the only two league contests slated in non-conference firing. Minnesota is at Michigan State tonight. On Saturday Notre Dame faces Northwestern in Chicago Stadium and Marquette is at Purdue.

In other engagements for mid-western quintets, Kentucky is at Notre Dame tonight. Oklahoma Aggies meet De Paul in the second half of the Stadium twin card Saturday, while Western Reserve is at Michigan State and Bradley at St. Louis.

At Iowa City Saturday, the Hawkeyes' Chuck Darling pumped in four quick baskets after coming in off the bench to ignite a rally that downed Northwestern 61-56.

Indiana handed Purdue a home licking, 40-38, and at Ann Arbor, Skoog collected 22 points in leading Minnesota over Michigan 60-52.

John Campbell, our Illinois Valley correspondent, etc. was busy handing out two-fers last night. He's the beaming daddy of an eight pound, two-ounce daughter, born Monday morning at 3:59 a. m. the cheer-leader (1950 model) will bear the title Sara Louise. Oh yes! The Mrs. is doing well.

Jacksonville high school is idle tonight. The Crimson will see no action until Friday when they move to Springfield for a Central conference struggle with the unbeaten Felthams Flyers. Kincaid's Pony quintet invades the David Prince gymnasium Saturday night to make the weekend complete.

In the meantime the Illinois College Blueboys are priming their heavy artillery for the James Millikin invasion Saturday night. When these two CCI antagonists clash the ring of battle should sound all the way back to Decatur where officials will be gnawing their nails waiting for the snow.

Apologies to Spike Wilson and his ISD hoopers. Our records show the ISD basketball record one short in the victory column. The westenders actually own a 12-1 mark to date, which isn't bad shooting in any league.

The PMBC tournament is scheduled to get underway this evening, in the wake of the just-ended Winchester carnival. It's a heavy diet of basketball that fans in this area have on the menu these two weeks.

Waverly followers may wonder if "Pickie" Mitchell didn't set a new record when he rang up 30 points in a single Winchester tournament game last week. Fact is, the stocky Seattle ball hawk was just seven points short of a mark set by Carrollton's Bill Volles at Winchester sometime in the mid-40's.

Mills To Defend Title Against Joe Maxim Tonight

London, Jan. 23—(P)—England's Freddie Mills makes the first defense of the light heavyweight championship he won 18 months ago against Joey Maxim, clever Cleveland boxer in Earl's Court tomorrow night.

A capacity crowd of 18,000 already is assured for the 15-round battle between the hard-punching Englishman and the fancy boxing American. The bout is scheduled to start at 9 p. m. (3 p. m. CST).

Despite the fact that the title is being risked in Mills' home country, the bookmakers here have established the 27-year-old Maxim as a one-to-two favorite.

One reason for Maxim's favoritism is that he has been working at his trade while the 30 year old titleholder has had only two bouts since he won the crown from Gus Lesnevich of Cliffside Park, N. J., in London July 26, 1948.

Mills, a stocky, mauling type of fighter, knocked out Johnny Ralph, South African heavyweight king, in six rounds, Nov. 6, 1948, and was flattened himself by Bruce Woodcock, the European heavyweight champion, in 14 rounds in London last June.

Maxim has had four fights since last May, winning all. He outpointed Lesnevich, stopped Joe Kahut and Pat McCafferty and defeated Bill Peterson.

Favored Mt. Sterling Five In First Game, Routt Plays Second

Games Tonight

Mt. Sterling vs. Chambersburg (7:15 p.m.)

Routt vs. Perry (8:45 p.m.)

With a 13-2 record and Winchester tournament championship under their belts, the speedy Green Hornets of Mt. Sterling throw their fire-wagon brand of basketball against Chambersburg's defending champion Red Raider quintet in the opening tussle of the annual PMBC conference tournament at the ISD arena this evening.

The first game will get underway at 7:15 and the second at 8:45 p.m. The Hornets are rated the number-one team in the tournament while Routt is third.

Chapin, the number-two entry, tests a dark-horse Meredosia aggregation in the first game Wednesday night. Spike Wilson's highly successful ISD aggregation, who already owns one tournament championship this season winning that at Louisville, Mo., meets Bluffs in the final first-round battle at 8:45 Wednesday night.

ISD, Meredosias Rated

The Tigers are rated fourth in the tournament which belies their 12-1 record for the season. They, and Meredosia, who has been beating everything in sweat-sox the past two weeks, are definitely underrated in the meet and should surprise the doers.

Semi-final games are slated for Thursday evening with the tourney wind-ups—consolation and championship games—set for Friday night.

Routt, with a 7-6 record, will go into tonight's game with a victory over Arenzville's highly-touted ball club on the books. Stroud's athletes tipped Arenzville 34-32 here last week to break a two-game losing streak.

Mt. Sterling's Coach Maurice Root brings to Jacksonville a well-balanced outfit that will show fans some of the fastest basketball seen here this season. Dick McClelland and Al Robinson, 5-9 speed merchants, amassed the Winchester tournament crowds with their driving basketball while Tully Huebner and Don Clark furnished ample size and sure under-the-basket shooting.

Paul Stroud will keep his Routt Rocket gang on a straight die of slow-breaking methodical basketball that has proved successful so far.

Chapin Graders Down South Jacks In PMSC Tussle

Council Prepares To Raise Fees For Fire Service In Suburbs

The mounting cost of fire protection to suburban districts was again discussed by the city council last night, after which a proposal to increase the fees was referred to the fire committee for investigation and report.

Several times the aldermen have talked about the smallness of the $100 charge the city makes for out-of-town fire runs, with $1 per mile attached to the bill. Although the council appears to agree on upping the charges, nothing has ever been done in that respect. The fire committee is now instructed to prepare a new scale of fees and submit it for probable action.

Harper Expected To Win GOP Race For Thomas' Post

Hackensack, N. J., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Harry C. Harper, a former big league pitcher, looked like the man who would win the Republican nomination tomorrow for the post vacated by the jailed J. Parnell Thomas.

Harper is running against two other Republicans in the special primary today in the seventh congressional district.

In the strongly Republican district, the party's nomination usually means the easy election of a candidate, and Harper has the blessing of the powerful GOP organization here. There is no contest in the Democratic ranks.

Armstrong Gives DeMolay Program; Next Meet Tuesday

Louis Henry Clampt chapter, Order of DeMolay, will hold state communications Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Masonic Temple, with Edmund Vorhes, master counselor, in charge of the business session. Warren Ferguson will present the entertainment, and the Mothers' Circle will serve refreshments.

Hostesses will include Mrs. Viola Querry, Mrs. Beulah Mayer and Mrs. Gladys Pires. The Mothers' Circle business session will be at 7:30 p.m. that evening in the ladies' lounge.

The local chapter was host to the district organization Sunday, Jan. 15, when Russell Armstrong performed as a magician. Refreshments were served.

It was announced that the Eli chapter of Roodhouse would be host for the district basketball tournament March 4 and 5. The winning team will represent this district at the state tournament in Belleville, March 25 and 26. There will be a banquet, dance and other entertainment at Roodhouse.

The annual district class is to be held outside of Quincy instead of within that city during the summer months. It was decided.

The local chapter will confer Dec. 28 with Edmund Vorhes in the East, and election of officers will be held. The installation will be March 28. Plans are being formulated for a public chili supper Feb. 14.

The mayor said he believes the citizens of Jacksonville should be protected in their investment of fire-fighting equipment.

"Let the new fees compensate the city to a satisfactory figure," he advised, as he referred the matter to the fire committee.

Alderman Haneline of the ordinance committee reported that complaints continue to be received from residents in the vicinity of a cabinet shop in the 1200 block on South Main street, regarding noises from the shop. Haneline recalled that the council was petitioned several weeks ago, asking for relief from the alleged nuisance, but said the situation has not improved.

After some discussion Alderman Haneline moved, seconded by Alderman Kelly, that the city attorney be instructed to file a complaint for an injunction against the proprietor of the shop to restrain him from operating an alleged nuisance and violating the zoning ordinance.

The vote on the motion was seven to one in the affirmative. Alderman Flynn voted against it.

City Clerk Phillips read a letter from H. E. Hudson, Jr., of the State Water Survey Division at Urbana, offering to make a survey of siting in the two Jacksonville lakes this summer. Hudson said a crew of the state division if the city desired, would make a study of soil types, land use and crop trends on the drainage area, in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service. Mayor Hoagland referred the matter to the water committee.

Fire Fund Transferred
A resolution transferring $21,303.09 from the fire protection fund to the general fund for the purpose of reimbursing the general fund for expenses of the fire department for the year ending Dec. 31, 1949, was passed on motion of Alderman Haneline, seconded by Alderman Reid.

George Coldevery, superintendent of the water and light departments, told the council the new traffic lights had been installed at South Main street and College avenue, and are working satisfactorily.

Work on the proposed new zoning ordinance is moving ahead. Alderman Haneline told his colleagues. He said the ordinance committee conferred last week with the zoning commission, and that the committee will meet again Thursday of this week with representatives of Harold Bartholomew & Associates of St. Louis, the firm which is preparing maps and other necessary data. The alderman said the proposed ordinance probably will be ready for public hearings by the middle of April.

Attorney W. R. Bellatti read a resolution to transfer $805.95 from the public benefit fund to the motor fuel tax fund, that amount being a rebate to the city from the South Clay avenue resurfacing job. The resolution passed after a motion by Alderman Chumley, seconded by Alderman Baker.
